

WRITTEN SUMMARY AND EVALUATION

Ryan has been a delight and awesome professional from the start of his clinical experience. Ryan started his clinical by observing the dynamics of the classroom, along with the daily operations of the 7th grade language arts class. Only after a couple observations, Ryan immediately started to merge into the learning environment by communicating with students the learning objectives for the day, the homework and specifics of the agenda. Soon after discussing class specifics, Ryan took daily attendance by checking for materials necessary for class and picking up individual homework. His enthusiasm about learning and teaching was evident everyday and his compassion for individual student success assisted in creating genuine relationships with students that will prove to be a great memory for all students throughout their learning experience. Ryan assisted with grading papers, instructional guidance and working in guided reading groups with lower levelled and higher levelled readers. He consistently exhibits professionalism and efficiency when it comes to accurately planning and preparing activities for a very diverse learning environment. Ryan's facilitation of a diverse lesson using the text of a myth, "Orpheus, the Great Musician," was a great learning experience for students, and once again proved how efficient and thoughtful his planning of lessons are.
